Dear all,

The Mahatma Ayyankali International Study and Research Centre, Department of History, University of Kerala, invites scholars, researchers, and activists to submit papers for a three-day international seminar focused on understanding and addressing social marginalization. The seminar aims to explore the multifaceted issues faced by marginalized communities across the globe—including those related to caste, gender, ethnicity, disability, and social exclusion—and to foster dialogues on strategies for social justice and inclusion.

We seek contributions that analyse the historical and contemporary aspects of marginalization, examine the intersections of multiple social identities, and evaluate policies, grassroots movements, and community initiatives aimed at promoting social equity. Topics of interest include, but are not limited to, the history of marginalization, intersectionality, disability rights, gender justice, ethnic identity, caste discrimination, development challenges, and responses at both local and global levels. We look forward to receiving your innovative and insightful contributions to this important dialogue on social marginalization.
